Travel Tip 1 – Where Is the Grand Canyon?

Grand Canyon National Park is in Northern Arizona.

Travel Tip 2 – What Side of the Canyon Should We See?

Grand Canyon South Rim is open year-round and regarded as the “quintessential” Grand Canyon. If it’s your first visit, or you’re traveling with children, you’ll probably want to visit Grand Canyon South Rim for its beautiful views, abundance of hotels and variety of family-oriented activities. Grand Canyon South Rim is at 6,500’.

Grand Canyon North Rim is open from mid-May through mid-October. Dubbed “the connoisseur’s Grand Canyon,” the North Rim is cooler and quieter. At 7,500’ (a full 1,000’ higher than the South Rim), the North Rim has more lush vegetation and unique animal life. Visitor services are fewer in number and smaller in scale than the South Rim.

Grand Canyon West (a.k.a. “the West Rim”) is also open year-round. Situated on Hualapai Indian Tribal Lands, it is separate from Grand Canyon National Park. It is a shallower (4,500’) and narrower part of the gorge, but with opportunities not available in the park, such as helicopter flights to the bottom and horseback rides on the rim. It is very hot in summer.

Travel Tip 3 – How Do I Find it on a Map?

Your Grand Canyon Top Tours Brochure has one. You can also find several excellent maps on our website. To find the Grand Canyon’s location on MapQuest or Yahoo!, use Zip code “86023” or “Grand Canyon, Arizona” for Grand Canyon South Rim. You can also use Airport Locator Code “GCN.” In our experience, mapping Grand Canyon North Rim is a bit tricky. We’ve found it best to use Jacob Lake, Arizona as your reference point, and from there, the park is 60 miles South. For Grand Canyon West (a.k.a. the “West Rim,”) Meadview, Arizona seems to be the closest mappable location. Insider tip: Be sure to do a “reality check” on all roads you plan to travel. Some mapping sites may inadvertently route you through unpaved roads, which can be impassable in inclement weather or to vehicles without 4-Wheel drive. When in doubt, check it out. Inquire at your hotel front desk, or check road conditions online. For Arizona, use www.az511.com; for Utah, visit www.dot.state.ut.us Note that most rental car insurance policies WILL NOT cover damage sustained by taking vehicles off-road!

Travel Tip 4 - How Do I Get to the Grand Canyon?

FLYING:

Most visitors begin their Grand Canyon vacations from one of two metropolitan airports within half a day’s drive of the park:

✈ Phoenix, Arizona (PHX), 240 miles from the South Rim, average drive time 4.5 hours; 375 miles from the North Rim, average drive time 6.5 hours

✈ Salt Lake City, Utah (SLC), 410 miles from the North Rim, average drive time 7 hours
OR ✈ Albuquerque, New Mexico (ABQ), 400 miles from the South Rim, average drive time 7 hours; 490 miles from the North Rim, average drive time 8.5 hours

Car rentals are available at all the above airports. For availability and pricing of flights and car rentals, call (800) 916-8530.

✈ Grand Canyon National Park Airport [South Rim] (GCN) is primarily used as a sightseeing and general aviation airport. Located in Tusayan, 1 mile South of the park entrance, drive time to South Rim 10 minutes. No car rentals offered, but taxi service is available on an on-call basis.

DRIVING:

Around here, before you get somewhere, you have to go through a whole lot of nowhere. One of the most challenging aspects of Grand Canyon travel is the distances between places. Things are more spread out here than you're probably used to, so unless you fly into one of the airports located near the park, be prepared to spend some time behind the wheel. You're on vacation, so relax and enjoy the scenery! But don't forget it can be a long way between gas stations, so fill up when you get the chance (see Travel Tip 27 about gas prices).

The Grand Canyon train departs daily from Williams, Arizona, with 3.5 hour layover at the South Rim. Overnight packages are also available.

Insider tip: Neither the Coach nor Club cars of the Railway offer air-conditioning. If you prefer an air-conditioned ride, choose First Class, Observation Dome or Luxury Parlor Car. Children must be at least 11 to ride in the Dome or Parlor cars; all ages are welcome on the First Class Car. For more information Grand Canyon Bus tours, contact GrandCanyon.com at (866) 944-7263 or (928) 645-6845.

Travel Tip 5 - Where Should I Stay?

There are 6 hotels inside the park at Grand Canyon South Rim: the El Tovar Hotel, Kachina Lodge, Thunderbird Lodge, Bright Angel Lodge, Maswik Lodge and Yavapai Lodge. The first four lodges are situated on the very rim of the canyon; Maswik and Yavapai Lodge are ¼ mile and 1 mile from the canyon rim respectively. Grand Canyon South Rim hotels are typically booked 8 months to a year in advance from mid-March through mid-September, as well as for major wintertime holidays such as Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's and the Martin Luther King and Presidents' Day holidays.

Inside the park at the North Rim, there is only one hotel: the Grand Canyon Lodge, which consists of cabins and some motel rooms. This lodge is also usually booked well in advance during season, which is only from mid-May through mid-October.

All of the in-park lodges both at the North and South Rim are managed by the official concessionaire, Xanterra Parks & Resorts, who can be reached at 888/297-2757 inside the US or 303/297-2757 outside the US. Online, visit www.GrandCanyonLodges.com (South Rim) or www.GrandCanyonNorthRim.com (North Rim). If your trip is within peak season and less than 3 months away, you are unlikely to be able to secure lodging inside the park. Your best bet will be to look at the park's "gateway communities" (cities and towns located nearby) for your Grand Canyon lodging.

South Rim Gateway Lodges and Communities

Tusayan is located an easy 7 miles (10 minutes) from Grand Canyon South Rim. Our preferred hotel property, the Best Western Grand Canyon Squire Inn is located here. This Grand Canyon hotel offers the most for families, like an on-site play center with a 6-lane bowling alley, video arcade, and billiard tables. The Squire offers both fine dining and family style restaurants, as well as a cocktail lounge, gift shop, outdoor pool and Jacuzzi, workout room, salon, gift shop, even a cowboy museum.

Other hotels in Tusayan include the Quality Inn Canyon Plaza, the Red Feather Lodge, the Holiday Inn Express and the Grand Hotel. For availability and pricing of these hotels, call (800) 916-8530.

Grand Canyon West Lodging

The Grand Canyon West Ranch is located 14 miles Southeast of the Grand Canyon West Airstrip on the Diamond Bar Road. For more information, call 1.800.359.8727 or visit www.grandcanyonranch.com .

In the town of Peach Springs, the Hualapai Lodge

(www.destinationgrandcanyon.com , or phone 928-769-2230)

offers hotel-style accommodations, with a restaurant and gift shop, about 2 hours away from Grand Canyon West. About 10 minutes

South of Peach Springs is the Grand Canyon Caverns Inn, a family-owned facility within easy access of the Grand Canyon Caverns

(www.gccaverns.com or phone 928.422.3223). Insider tip: Peach Springs is located on one of the last active segments of Historic Route 66 . Many of the old shops, gas stations, etc. have been very well-preserved and are still in operation.

The next nearest lodging to Grand Canyon West would be in Kingman, Arizona , about 90 minutes Southwest of Grand Canyon West. For more information on Grand Canyon hotels – or lodging at any other stops on your tour - visit www.GrandCanyon.com/hotels.html or call (800) 916-8530.

Travel Tip 6 - How About Camping or RV Parks?

At Grand Canyon South Rim, trailer and tent sites are offered at Trailer Village, which is managed by Xanterra South Rim LLC (www.grandcanyonlodges.com , 888/297-2757 or 303/297-2757). Tent sites and limited trailer sites are also offered at Mather Campground, which is near Trailer Village. Mather Campground does not have hook-ups for trailers, but does have a dump station, pay showers and a Laundromat at the Camper Services building.

At the North Rim, the campground is open from mid-May through mid-October. There are no trailer hook-ups, but a dump station is available. In-park campgrounds for both North and South Rims are administered by the National Park Reservation Service. Advance reservations are strongly recommended for Grand Canyon camping during peak travel periods. Reservations for Grand Canyon and other National Park campgrounds can be made by phone at 877-444-6777 or on-line at www.Recreation.gov

First-come, First-Serve Camping

There are a few Grand Canyon campgrounds which are operated on a first-come, first-served basis. 2 miles South of Tusayan, the U.S. Forest Service's 10-X Campground offers “dry camping” from May through October. There are no utilities or hook-ups at individual campsites, but pit toilets and cold water spigots are located throughout the campground. 26 miles East of Grand Canyon Village is the Desert View Campground. Run by the National Park Service, it is also open to tent campers and trailers, though there are no hook-ups.

In Valle, 30 miles South of Grand Canyon South Rim, a remnant of true-blue American roadside kitsch still stands: the Flintstones Bedrock City. Built in 1972 (under the official auspices of Hanna-Barbera, no less), you can't miss Bedrock City. Here, campers can park their trailers or tents next door to colorful replicas of Fred and Wilma's house (or Barney and Betty's if one prefers). There's a theatre on-site that plays (what else?) Flintstones cartoons, a diner that serves up Brontosaurus Burgers and a “kiddie train” that tours a “volcano.” Though showing its age according to recent visitors, many still get a kick out of Bedrock City's unabashedly cheesy character. Located at the junction of Highway 64 & 180. For more information, call (928) 635-2600.

At the North Rim, the Tuweep (also known as Toroweap) Campground is located in the remote Arizona Strip on the Northwest side of the canyon. The National Park Service oversees this facility, which is known as a “primitive campground:” picnic tables, fire grates, and composting toilets are provided, but no electricity or water is available. Sites may fill during spring months, especially on weekends.

The Jacob Lake Campground is run by the U.S. Forest Service 44 miles North of the park. Drinking water and flush toilets are available on-property, plus this campground is within easy access of the town of Jacob Lake where gas and other supplies may be purchased. All North Rim campgrounds are open from mid-May through mid-October, weather permitting.

On both the North and South Rims, “dispersed camping” or “camping-at-large” is permitted within National Forest Lands as long as one’s vehicle is situated ¼ mile or more from the main highway. Some restrictions may apply, particularly at the North Rim.

Grand Canyon West does not have camping on-site, but there is a campground and RV parks in Peach Springs at the Grand Canyon Caverns Inn (www.gccaverns.com, 928-422-3223). The Place Motel on Pearce Ferry Road has dry RV spaces (928) 564-4040.

The gateway communities of Williams, Flagstaff, Page, and Kingman also have many fine RV Parks and Campgrounds. For more information, visit www.rvpark.com. Insider tip: Before you commit to camping, remember that nights still get cold at the South and North Rim! Overnight lows in the 20’s are reported as late as Memorial Day. Bring a good sleeping bag!

Insider’s Guide Reader Tip: “If you don’t wish to bring your own camping equipment, you can rent it (tents, sleeping bags, etc.) in Las Vegas (www.westernwanderer.com), Flagstaff (www.peacesurplus.com) or at Grand Canyon South Rim’s Canyon Marketplace (928/638-2622).” – Jill G.

Travel Tip 7 - How Long Should I Stay?

The typical Grand Canyon family vacation is two or three days (see Travel Tip 21). You tell us how much time you have to spend, and we can tell you how best to use it, whether you have a day, a weekend, a week, or more. Tell us how you’re getting here, how much driving you’re willing to do (or not do), and we’ll help you coordinate a vacation that will last a lifetime in your memories, whether you’re coming through Phoenix or Las Vegas, staying inside the park, or making Flagstaff, Williams, Sedona or Page/Lake Powell your “home base” for exploring the area.

Travel Tip 8 - Do I Have to Pay to Visit Grand Canyon?

Yes, Grand Canyon National Park is a Federal Fee Area. It is $25 per vehicle to enter the park via the South Rim or North Rim. Persons entering the park by bicycle, foot, motorcycle, bus, train or other type of commercial vehicle must pay a fee of $12 per person. Your entrance fee is good for one week’s time, so be sure to keep your receipt with you each time you exit and re-enter the park.

Insider tip: Avoid long lines at the South Rim by getting there early, or prepay your park entrance fee before you get there at one of two National Park Service Pay Stations located at the Valle Travel Stop in Valle, Arizona (between Williams and the South Rim at the Junction of Highway 180 & 64) or at the IMAX Theatre in Tusayan (1 mile South of the Park Entrance). Pre-purchasing your Grand Canyon Pass will allow you to pass through one of two Express Lane when entering the park. If you're visiting two or three National Parks on your vacation, see Travel Tip 22 about the "America the Beautiful National Parks and Federal Lands Access Pass."

Grand Canyon West is part of the Hualapai Indian Tribal Lands, which are separate from the National Park. Entrance fees here start at $29/person. Activities such as sightseeing tours, helicopter flights, cultural performances or other add-ons cost more.

Travel Tip 9 - Can I Drive My Car in the Park?

All viewpoints on the North Rim are usually accessible to private vehicles. At press time (January 2007), the North Rim is recovering from a major forest fire, which means that temporary road closures may result to facilitate clean-up and restoration efforts. These should primarily affect off-road areas, but for your safety, please steer clear of the burn area and obey any road closure signs you may encounter.

On the South Rim, the West Rim Drive (a.k.a. "Hermit Road") is closed to private vehicles from March through November, during which time complimentary shuttle service is offered to these Grand Canyon overlooks. This shuttle line is known as the "Hermit's Rest Route" or the "Red Line" and begins at the West Rim Interchange near Bright Angel Lodge.

Shuttle service is also offered to the various hotels, restaurants and gift shops in the Grand Canyon Village area. The "Village Loop Route," also known as the "Blue Line" runs year-round. It is highly recommended that you use this shuttle service whenever possible. Parking spaces inside the park are at a premium during peak travel periods. Shuttles pick up the various stops approximately every 15 minutes from sunrise to sunset. Check your information packet that you receive at the park gates for exact times. The East Rim Drive (or the "Desert View Road") is open to private vehicles year-round, with the exception of Yaki Point and the South Kaibab Trailhead. These areas are served by shuttle busses (the "Kaibab Trail Route" or the "Green Line" ) year-round.

When you enter the park, you will be given a map and schedule of activities by the staff at the entrance gate. These will indicate which roads you can use to tour Grand Canyon South Rim. Be sure to obey any and all road closure signs you may encounter.

At Grand Canyon West, which is separate from Grand Canyon National Park, you can drive your vehicle into the complex, but remember that the main access road is unpaved. A “park and ride” shuttle is offered at the Grand Canyon West Welcome Center in Meadview.

Traveler Tip 10 – What Are the “Don’t Miss” Places at the Grand Canyon?

At the South Rim, you’ll get your first view of the Canyon from Mather Point. Here, you should also take the opportunity to visit the Canyon View Information Visitor Center just across the street. Yavapai Point is 1 mile West of Mather Point. Here you can learn more about the complex geological forces that shaped the Grand Canyon (and get a great view of it, too!) One mile West of the park business center is Grand Canyon Village Historic District. Here you should park your vehicle and walk the easy Rim Trail along the Canyon Rim, or ride the free shuttle. Don’t forget to stop and explore the hotels, gift shops and museums dating back to the early 1900’s: the El Tovar Hotel, Hopi House, Verkamp’s, Kolb Studio and Bright Angel Lodge. If you have more time, try to explore the 26-mile East Rim Drive and its many beautiful overlooks.

At the North Rim, Point Imperial is reached by a winding scenic road lined with pine, birch and aspen trees. A stunning, expansive overlook, you can see Marble Canyon, the Painted Desert and all the way across to the South Rim from Point Imperial. Cape Royal is a more vertically oriented viewpoint where you can see the Unkar Delta of the Colorado River through Angel’s Window, which is literally a “hole in the wall” of the Grand Canyon. At Bright Angel Point, you can walk out to several smaller overlooks of the Grand Canyon, plus walk through the historic Grand Canyon Lodge. You might even take in a ranger program or view the educational displays at the visitors’ center nearby.

If you’re visiting Grand Canyon West, the main canyon overlooks are Eagle Point and Guano Point. Eagle Point is named for the appearance of an eagle in flight in the rock face to the East. This jagged, vertical viewpoint has excellent views of the Colorado River. This will also be the future home of the Grand Canyon Skywalk, a glass-lined cantilevered bridge that will project 70’ past the lip of the canyon, making you feel as though you’re floating high in the air above the Colorado River! The Skywalk is slated to open in early 2007. At Guano Point, named for a defunct mining operation, you can sit down to a barbecue meal with the very edge of the Grand Canyon mere feet from your table. Take a walk around the point too and take a look at some of the old mining equipment.

Travel Tip 11 – Can I Bring My Dog?

Dogs are welcome at Grand Canyon South Rim as long as they are leashed at all times and remain ONLY on rimside trails. Dogs are not allowed on ANY inner canyon trails, nor are they allowed in any hotels, restaurants, gift shops or other public places (service dogs for the disabled excepted). Pets must NEVER be left unattended in a hotel room, campsite or a parked car. Dogs get dehydrated just as we do, so bring enough water for your dog when out exploring. At the South Rim of the Grand Canyon there are two pet-friendly hotels: the Red Feather Lodge and the Grand Hotel in Tusayan. Pets are not allowed to stay overnight in any of the in-park hotels, but there is a kennel inside the park. Advance reservations are recommended [(928) 638-2631 or (928) 638-0534]. Pet-friendly hotels and dog boarding facilities are also available in Williams or Flagstaff.

On the North Rim, dogs are permitted only on the bridle path connecting the lodge to the North Kaibab trail. The National Park Services goes as far as to suggest that pets be left at home when you visit the North Rim. The closest pet-friendly property to Grand Canyon North Rim is the Holiday Inn Express in Kanab, Utah (1.5 hours away). Other pet-friendly lodging is available in Page, Arizona (2.5 hours away). The Page area also has a couple of dog boarding facilities, where advance reservations are recommended: Anderson’s Feed & Fence at (928) 645-3633, or the Page Animal Hospital at (928) 645-2816.

Dogs are not allowed at Grand Canyon West, with the exception of service dogs for the disabled. If you stay at a hotel, a deposit will be required for your dog. Commercial boarding facilities will require proof of current vaccinations. For availability and pricing of pet-friendly hotels in the area, call (800) 916-8530. For more information on traveling with your dog, visit www.thetravelerscompanion.com.

Insider’s Guide Reader Tip: “Dogs are also not allowed on any tours (except for certified service dogs). If you’re going on a tour that starts early in the morning, you will probably need to arrange to have your pet kenneled the night before. Make sure you plan accordingly so you have sufficient time to make these arrangements.” – Anne M.

Travel Tip 12 - How’s the Weather?

Grand Canyon weather in summertime runs the gamut from warm and dry to rainy and stormy (some of us “old-timers” have seen it snow in June!). As a rule, daytime highs at the South Rim range from 85-90°F; the North Rim usually runs about 10° cooler. The inner canyon is just plain HOT, with temperatures of 110°-120° reported. During the summer months, hikers are advised to schedule the most strenuous part of their walk for early morning or late afternoon to avoid the dangers of the oppressive mid-day heat.

July and August are also known as “monsoon season,” where storm clouds move in from the South in the afternoon. This results in thunderstorms that are brief, but intense. Lightning strikes and flash floods occur at this time of year, too, so use caution when standing on the canyon rim or hiking in the inner canyon, slot canyons or river washes.

Grand Canyon West, due to its lower altitude and proximity to the Mojave Desert is VERY HOT in the summertime. Temperatures on the rim frequently exceed 110°F in mid-summer, which means it will be ghastly hot (120°F+) in the inner gorge. Summertime activities at Grand Canyon West should be scheduled for the early morning hours if at all possible.

Statistically, the Southwest is still in the midst of a drought that is expected to continue. Rain or no rain, afternoons are typically windy. Nighttime lows can still dip down into the 30’s and 40’s, and temperatures drop quickly after sunset. Be prepared by carrying a light jacket and maybe a rain poncho in case precipitation is expected. Check the weather as your trip date gets closer, either on your favorite weather website using the zip code 86023, or check our weather page for up-to-the-minute conditions and 10-Day Forecasts.

Use caution when engaging in ANY kind of physical activity, no matter how easy it may seem. The South Rim is 6,500’ above sea level; the North Rim is 1,000’ higher. Grand Canyon West is only 4,500’ high, but very hot as mentioned above. If you plan to walk any distance longer than a mile in the Inner Canyon or Grand Canyon West, pack some nutritious, high-energy snacks. Carry water and DRINK IT! Fire danger will also be extremely high. Obey any and all restrictions in the parks you visit.

Travel Tip 13 – Will My Cell Phone Work in the Park?

Don’t count on it. The primary providers in the Grand Canyon area are Alltel and Verizon, but even their subscribers report occasional inconsistencies with their service. This is due to the ruggedness of the terrain and the altitude. If you need to have a phone number for family or work to get ahold of you, your best bet is to provide your hotel phone numbers. Contact Grand Canyon.com for assistance at (866) 944-7263 or (928) 645-6845.

Travel Tip 14 – Can I Bring My Laptop or Check E-mail?

Grand Canyon.com’s preferred hotel at the South Rim, the Best Western Grand Canyon Squire Inn, has DSL in its Deluxe Rooms. There is also a DSL connection in the lobby, plus there’s an Internet Café in Tusayan across from the Holiday Inn Express. Inside the park, Maswik and Yavapai Lodges have internet kiosks available for a nominal fee. Check with the front desk at these hotels for pricing.

If you're visiting the North Rim, the closest place to check your e-mail will be Vermillion Espresso in Kanab, Utah (1.5 hours away), or Beans Coffee House in Page, AZ (2.5 hours).

Travel Tip 15 – Is That the Right Time?

The Grand Canyon is on Mountain Standard Time year-round.

Arizona does not observe daylight savings time (exception: the Navajo Indian Reservation). Nevada, Utah, New Mexico and Colorado all observe daylight savings time. Arizona is on the same time as Nevada during the summer months; Utah, New Mexico and Colorado are all one hour ahead.

Be sure you keep this in mind when scheduling activities, especially those that require you to cross time zones. Example: driving from Grand Canyon

Travel Tip 16 - So, How About Those Mule Rides?

Grand Canyon Mule Rides are extremely popular and typically book up 9 months to a year in advance during peak travel season (March through October). Grand Canyon mule trips on the South Rim are managed by Xanterra, who can be reached at 888/297-2757 or 303/297-2757. Before you make that call, you should know that there are physical requirements that all mule riders must meet with no exceptions. On the South Rim, they are:

- No rider may weigh more than 200 pounds fully dressed (ALL riders are weighed, and if you weigh 201, you will not ride)
- All riders must be 4'7" tall (children are measured if necessary);
- All riders must speak and understand English (if in doubt, they check you out)
- No pregnant women.
- Grand Canyon Mule Trips are not recommended for those with chronic back, hip or knee problems, or for those afraid of heights or large animals.

On the North Rim, mule trips are offered by Canyon Trail Rides, who can be reached at 435-679-8665, or online at www.canyonrides.com Weight limits for North Rim mule riders vary from 200 to 220 lbs depending on the length of the ride; there are also age limits for North Rim mule trips as opposed to height limits. Grand Canyon North Rim mule trips run from mid-May to mid-October only.

Grand Canyon West does not offer trail rides into the inner canyon, but they do have horseback rides on the rim, or you can take a helicopter to the bottom of the canyon. For more information on Grand Canyon West, visit www.destinationgrandcanyon.com

If a mule ride is not for you, GrandCanyon.com has other ways to get you to the bottom of the Canyon. Ask about the "Colorado River Adventure" the "Colorado River Day Float Trip," "Canyon River Adventure," or the "Las Vegas Grand Voyager."

Travel Tip 17 - Are River Rafting Trips Available?

Yes, we offer a variety of one-day Grand Canyon river rafting trips – both smooth water AND white water! Float trips (no rapids) are offered out of Las Vegas, Grand Canyon South Rim, Flagstaff, Sedona, and Page/Lake Powell from March through October. Children must be at least 4 years old to take part. Tours at Grand Canyon West include pontoon boat rides and are available year-round, weather permitting, with no age limit.

One day White Water Rafting Trips originate from Peach Springs, Arizona, but it is recommended that you actually set aside 2 days for the trip so you can include an overnight stay in the Peach Springs area the night before. Children must be at least 8 to participate in a white water trip. Grand Canyon white water trips are available from March through October. Multi-day Grand Canyon white water rafting trips require a time commitment of 4 days to three weeks, and are usually booked about a year in advance. Visit our website and watch videos of our most popular Grand Canyon rafting trips! For more information, consult your Grand Canyon Top Tours Brochure, or call Grand Canyon.com at (866) 944-7263 or (928) 645-6845. For more information on multi-day white water trips, contact Rivers & Oceans at 1-800-476-4576 or www.rivers-oceans.com

Travel Tip 18 – Are Grand Canyon Air Tours Fun? How are Their Safety Records?

A Grand Canyon air tour is probably the best value for the money, allowing you to see the most of the Grand Canyon in the shortest amount of time. Indeed, by flying over the canyon, you'll get to see areas even the most skilled of hikers would be hard-pressed to get to! Grand Canyon overflights are available by airplane or helicopter and originate at Grand Canyon National Park Airport in Tusayan, Boulder City Municipal Airport and the North Las Vegas Airport in Nevada.

Both Grand Canyon Airlines and Scenic Airlines conduct Grand Canyon overflights in 19-passenger Twin Otter Airplanes. Both airlines also offer airplane/helicopter combination tours to Grand Canyon West that will get you to the bottom of the canyon ! Air Grand Canyon is another touring airline, operating canyon overflights in 6-passenger Cessna airplanes out of Grand Canyon South Rim. Vision Airlines flies out of North Las Vegas in Dornier 328's and also offers a Grand Canyon North Rim tour. Helicopter tours are provided from Grand Canyon South Rim and Las Vegas by Papillon Helicopters, Sundance Helicopters and Maverick Helicopters. Helicopters seat 5-6 passengers.

Grand Canyon flight routes are strictly regulated by the Federal Aviation Administration, therefore flight duration, price, etc. will be extremely similar no matter which company you choose to fly with. Overflights range from 30 minutes to 50 minutes in length.

Grand Canyon West tours are about 5 hours total. Helicopters are more expensive to maintain and operate, therefore a helicopter flight will be more expensive, BUT, they are also allowed to fly lower than airplanes, giving you the feeling of closer to the Grand Canyon. Airplanes, by virtue of higher airspeeds and higher flight altitude, will allow you to see more in terms of square mileage.

All Grand Canyon air tour operators have excellent safety records. Yes, accidents have happened, but statistically, these are quite rare. Media coverage of these tragic events creates the illusion that they happen more frequently than they actually do. If you have any apprehensions about flying, but still want to try it, here's an insider tip: fly during the morning hours (between 8 am and 10 am) - cooler temperatures equal smoother flights! Afternoons tend to be windy.

Travel Tip 19 – What’s Appropriate for Kids or Seniors?

All Grand Canyon tours in your Grand Canyon Top Tours Brochure are family-oriented and appropriate for most ages, with little or no strenuous activity required.

Grand Canyon river rafting trips do have some age restrictions (see Travel Tip #18), but children of all ages are welcome on Grand Canyon air tours, Grand Canyon helicopter tours, jeep tours and the Grand Canyon Railway. On some jeep or van tours you will be required to provide a car seat for infants and younger children. On the Grand Canyon Railway, children of all ages may ride the Coach, Club or First Class cars, but must be at least 11 to ride the Observation Dome or Luxury Parlor cars. The Coach and First Class Cars on the Grand Canyon Railway have wheelchair lifts.

The National Park Service also offers a variety of quality free programs, such as lectures, slide shows, guided hikes, and the world-famous “Junior Ranger” Program. Some of these programs are wheelchair accessible. For more information, visit www.nps.gov/grca or www.nationalparks.org. In Tusayan, just outside the park, be sure to visit the National Geographic Visitors’ Center. While you’re there, be sure to check out the spectacular IMAX Movie “Grand Canyon: The Hidden Secrets.”

Travel Tip 20 - Do I Need a Permit for Grand Canyon Hiking?

If you’d just like to take a day hike, a permit is not required. You still need to do your homework and know your limitations, especially in the summertime. Always remember that for every hour you hike down, it will take 2 hours to hike back up. Food and water should be taken if you plan on spending any more than an hour or going further than one mile round-trip. FOR YOUR SAFETY, HIKING RIM TO RIVER AND BACK IN A DAY IS STRONGLY DISCOURAGED AT ALL TIMES!

If you're with small children or seniors at the South Rim, a good short hike that will allow you to experience the inner canyon without stress or strain is to hike to the "First Tunnel" down the Bright Angel Trail. If you're in relatively good health and are up for a little more of a challenge, Cedar Ridge on the South Kaibab Trail offers outstanding views. The hike is 3 miles round-trip, requiring 3 hours to complete on average. The Kaibab Trailhead is at Yaki Point, which is only accessible by shuttle.

On the North Rim, a good short hike is to Coconino Overlook down the North Kaibab Trail, 1.5 miles (2 hours average) round-trip. Another moderate inner canyon hike from the North Rim is Cliff Spring Trail. The trailhead is off the road near Cape Royal, and the hike is 2 miles round-trip along a forested ravine. It runs past a historic Anasazi rock granary to Cliff Spring, a spring that trickles from under a prominent rocky overhang.

If you want to take an overnight hike in the canyon, back-country camping permits or reservations at Phantom Ranch are required. Back-country permits and lodging at Phantom Ranch are also typically booked months ahead. If you're interested in an overnight hike in the Grand Canyon, you must make your reservations ASAP. For more information on Phantom Ranch, visit www.grandcanyonlodges.com. For information on obtaining a backcountry hiking permit, visit www.nps.gov/grca. During the summer months, try to schedule any hiking during the cooler parts of the day. Avoid hiking in the inner canyon during the mid-day hours if at all possible. CARRY WATER AND DRINK IT. Better yet, schedule your trip for early spring, late fall or even winter.

Travel Tip 21 - Should I Spend My Whole Week There?

Strange as it may sound, if you have a week or more to work with, we don't recommend you spend the entire time at the Grand Canyon. Why? Because there are so many other beautiful places in the area to see, like Sedona, Lake Powell, Zion, or Bryce Canyon. There's also Monument Valley, Navajo National Monument, Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument, Kodachrome Basin, and the Paria Canyon Wilderness.

Give us a call at (866) 944-7263 and we'll happily help you coordinate a vacation that's relaxing, rewarding and fun. GrandCanyon.com is also a member of the Grand Circle Association, another excellent source for information about travel destinations around the Grand Canyon area. Get their free travel guide at www.grandcircle.org

Travel Tip 22 - Should I Get the "America The Beautiful" Pass?

If you plan on visiting a few National Parks or Monuments within one year's time, the "America the Beautiful" National Parks and Federal Lands Access Pass would be a worthwhile purchase. For $80, you and everyone in your vehicle are granted access to all National Parks, Monuments and Federal Fee Areas in the United States for one year.

The pass also covers entrance and amenities fees at sites managed by the Bureau of Land Management, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Bureau of Reclamation and the USDA Forest Service. Visitors 62 or older qualify for a Senior Pass, which grants you lifetime access to all National Parks for a one-time fee of $10. If you are disabled, ask about the free Access Pass. Insider tip: Purchase your pass before you go on vacation at <http://store.usgs.gov/pass> or call 1-888-ASK-USGS. Senior and Access Passes must be obtained in person. The “America the Beautiful Pass” does not grant access to State Parks or Native American Tribal Parks such as Monument Valley or Grand Canyon West.

Travel Tip 23 - Any Good Restaurants in the Area?

Tons! The El Tovar Hotel Dining Room is probably the South Rim area’s most famous, featuring a palate-pleasing fusion of Southwestern and Continental cuisine. Reservations are recommended for dinner (call (928) 638-2631) and breakfast and lunch are also served. The Arizona Room is another excellent choice for lunch or dinner, located at Bright Angel Lodge (it typically closes for winter). Bright Angel Lodge also features a family-style restaurant serving breakfast, lunch and dinner. Maswik and Yavapai Lodges have cafeteria-style facilities. Insider tip: If you’re going to any of the rimside restaurants for lunch, try to get there before the Grand Canyon Railway arrives. The Grand Canyon Railway arrives at 11:15 AM and 12:15 PM (May 27-September 4), dropping off hundreds of visitors to compete for those few tables.

You’ll also find many good restaurants outside the park. In Tusayan (7 miles from the Park), the Best Western Grand Canyon Squire Inn’s Coronado Room offers a fine dining experience, and a coffee-shop is located next door. JJK’s Restaurant, in the Quality Inn Canyon Plaza’s Atrium features family-style dining in a most unique setting, or enjoy cowboy style cuisine at the Grand Hotel’s Canyon Star restaurant.

Another restaurant that’s a personal favorite of just about everybody at GrandCanyon.com is the Cameron Trading Post on the Navajo Indian Reservation. A real Old West commerce center dating back to 1916, the house specialty is the Navajo Taco. The gift shop and gallery also have one of the area’s finest collections of Native American crafts. It’s located 60 miles from the park, but the scenic drive and delicious meal make the Cameron Trading Post well worth the trip. Insider tip: the Navajo Taco comes in “regular” and “mini” size. Unless you’re ravenously hungry, order the mini. If not, be prepared to take home a “doggie bag.”

On the North Rim, the Grand Canyon Lodge Dining Room offers an upscale menu at reasonable prices in a warm, earthy atmosphere. Reservations are recommended by calling (928) 638-2611. (Remember – the North Rim Lodge is only open through October 15th!)

50 miles North of the Park, the Jacob Lake Inn has an old-style diner known throughout the region for its delicious ice cream shakes and huge home-made cookies. In Page, Arizona, you can choose from fast-food chains and independently owned family-style restaurants. If a big hearty breakfast is what you're after, the Ranch House Grille is famous for its slogan "bring your appetite, you're gonna need it." Stromboli's Italian Restaurant serves "calzones as big as your head" through late October. The Mandarin Gourmet's all-you-can-eat Chinese buffet is a local favorite. In the mood for Mexican? Fiesta Mexicana will satisfy your appetite for the spicy stuff. For a good quick lunch, the Sandwich Place features "fast food fit for grown-ups."

Looking for a dining experience where getting to the restaurant is half the fun? Situated between Page, Arizona and Kanab, Utah is a popular local spot called the Paria Outpost . Open for dinner only on Friday and Saturday nights through early October, the Outpost serves an all-you-can-eat Texas-style barbecue buffet, surrounded by the beauty of the Paria Canyon area. Between Bitter Springs and Jacob Lake, stop by the Marble Canyon Lodge and Trading Post for classic home-made American food with the Vermillion Cliffs and the Colorado River Gorge just steps from your table. Just down the road, the Cliff Dweller's Lodge is one of Northern Arizona's "best kept secrets" with one patron recently reporting he had the "best biscuits and gravy he'd ever tasted" there!

Flagstaff, Williams, Sedona, Page, Kanab or St. George also have many choices of both chain and independent restaurants. Check the local newspapers, TV or radio stations, the local Chamber of Commerce or Visitor Information Center, or your hotel front desk for recommendations. The majority of restaurants and bars in the area are smoke-free.

Travel Tip 24 – How Should I Dress?

In the Southwest, our style is best summed up with "The 2 C's:" "CASUAL" and "COMFORTABLE." Even the area's more upscale restaurants have a very relaxed dress code (if they even have one at all). At the El Tovar Hotel, for example, they just ask that you not wear shorts to dinner. Pack a pair of khakis and maybe one long sleeve shirt; that should be as "formal" as you'll need. T-shirts and shorts are usually sufficient for daytime wear at the South Rim and at Grand Canyon West. You might want to have slightly heavier attire if you're visiting the North Rim as it runs about 10° cooler than the South Rim. On both the South and North Rim, bring at least a light jacket as nights still get chilly and temperatures tend to drop quickly after sunset. You might also want to bring a rain poncho just in case.

Leave the wing-tips and high heels at home. You'll want to wear shoes that are comfortable for walking. Even if you plan to take it easy, many walkways in the area are unpaved, so choose a shoe with at least a minimum of tread.

If you're the type of person who lives in sandals (like us!), forego the flip-flops and pick up a pair of Teva or Chacos. Invented by Colorado River rafting guides, these "sports sandals" have sturdy soles and Velcro ankle straps that will keep most pebbles and stickers at bay while hiking through the desert, yet allow you to walk through water without removing your shoes (or worrying about ruining them). You can wear them with socks in cooler weather, and they last forever. Similar sandals are sold at most retail shoe stores. For more information visit www.teva.com or www.chacousa.com

Travel Tip 25 – We Want to See the Grand Canyon; the Kids Want to Play in the Water

If summer vacation just isn't summer vacation without making a splash, consider making Lake Powell your "base camp" for exploring the Grand Canyon area. Located near the Arizona/Utah border, Lake Powell and the Glen Canyon National Recreation area boast stunning scenery, fun activities and lots of water! Lake Powell is situated almost exactly between the North and South Rims of the Grand Canyon, which means that either side of the canyon would be an easy 2.5 hour drive away – a perfect day trip! Other attractions nearby are Zion National Park, Bryce Canyon National Park,

Monument Valley, Coral Pink Sand Dunes, Kodachrome Basin, Paria Canyon, and that's just to name a few. Other popular things to do in the Page/Lake Powell area include rafting, scenic cruises to Rainbow Bridge and other attractions on the lake, dinner cruises, safari-style slot canyon tours, hiking, scenic flights, boating, swimming, and some of the best fishing in the world.

Room rates and gas prices in Page are typically very reasonable. For more information about including Page/Lake Powell in your vacation plans, call Grand Canyon.com at (866) 944-7263 or (928) 645-6845. For more information on the Lake Powell/Glen Canyon National Recreation area, visit www.nps.gov/glca . For Lake Powell water temperatures and fishing information, visit www.wayneswords.com

Travel Tip 26 – How are Gas Prices Out There?

At press time (January 2007), Arizona gas prices ranged from $2.01 to $2.64 a gallon; Utah gas prices ranged from $2.06 to $2.49 a gallon. Insider tip: It can be a long way between gas stations, so fill 'er up when you have the chance. Another insider tip: the best gas prices are not necessarily where you'd expect to find them. Check out www.arizonagasprices.com , or www.utahgasprices.com .

Travel Tip 27 – Can I Light Fireworks on 4th of July?

Absolutely not! Fireworks are illegal within National Park boundaries. Brush fires are a very real danger at this time of year, as was evidenced by last year’s Warm Fire at the North Rim. It’s not worth the risk. Some of the Grand Canyon’s gateway communities like Williams, Flagstaff, Kanab and Page usually have their own Fourth of July celebrations, but at this point (January 2007), it’s hard to say whether or not they’ll have fireworks. Check the local newspapers, TV or radio stations when you arrive in the area. Even if fireworks are nixed, there will probably still be parades, carnivals and other events that you can attend or participate in. Take a look at the next Travel Tip:

Travel Tip 28 – Are Any Events or Festivals Going On?

Lots of them! You can gaze at the stars in Flagstaff, perfect your fishing skills in Page, sample world-class chili in Williams, or listen to some “mountain music” at Mormon Lake. On the Utah side, you can enjoy cowboy poetry in Kanab, watch hot air balloons take flight in Panguitch, or hang with the locals at the Paria River.

If you’ll be visiting around the 4th of July, there will be many Independence Day celebrations taking place in picturesque small towns across the region. You’re all invited! Visit www.arizonaguide.com or www.kaneutah.com for more information about events around the area, or check the local newspapers, TV and radio stations, or inquire at your hotel.

Travel Tip 29 – Can We Get Married at Grand Canyon?

Yes, you can! Like a wedding taking place anywhere else, though, advance planning is key to a successful event at the Grand Canyon. It should be pointed out that the Grand Canyon is best for smaller, less formal gatherings. The park does not have facilities for large audiences (exception: the Shrine of the Ages, which seats 250+). Some services, such as florists and wedding cake designers, are located as far away as Flagstaff.

If you would like to get married outdoors at the North or South Rim, a Special Use Permit must be obtained from the National Park Service. These cost anywhere from $150 to $250 depending on where your wedding will be held and are non-refundable. Only certain sites are authorized for outdoor weddings. These are located away from major traffic areas so as not to interfere with other visitors’ enjoyment of the Grand Canyon. You must also have an Arizona marriage license, and arrange for someone to perform the ceremony.

For more information on facilities, clergy and guidelines for Grand Canyon Weddings, visit www.nps.gov/grca and look at the section marked “Fees and Reservations.” You can download a permit application from there as well.

Indoor weddings do not require special use permits. Grand Canyon Lodge at the North Rim does not host weddings or receptions, but Grand Canyon South Rim does have several banquet rooms available for these types of functions. For assistance, contact Xanterra South Rim LLC at 928-638-2631 and ask for the special events coordinator. Insider tip: weather can be highly unpredictable at Grand Canyon. If you plan an outdoor wedding at the South Rim, coordinate a “back-up” indoor location with Xanterra, just in case!

There is also a professional event planner located in Flagstaff who can help with these arrangements. Visit www.northernarizonaweddingplanner.com or call 877-527-0690. Weddings can also be held at the bottom of the canyon at Grand Canyon West, where many helicopter operators offer round-trip packages from – where else? - Las Vegas.

Travel Tip 30 – What if the Weather Turns Bad?

So what DO you do if your Grand Canyon vacation gets rained out, fogged in, snowed on (it can happen!) or otherwise? You don’t hang out in your room and mope, that’s for sure. Here are a few things you can do if Grand Canyon weather is less than ideal:

- Visit the Yavapai Observation Station - HUGE picture window offering spectacular views of Grand Canyon. Of course, if it’s raining or snowing, there might not be much of a view at all, but they do have a nice bookstore that’s open from 8 AM to 8 PM. This historic building recently underwent a renovation. .

- Learn about Grand Canyon art and photography from the early days to modern times at the Kolb Studio located near the Bright Angel trailhead. The former residence of Ellsworth and Emery Kolb, who were amongst the first to photograph and film the Grand Canyon. The home has been converted to a bookstore and museum, and the auditorium also hosts the annual “Arts for the Parks” Exhibit at certain times of the year.

- Learn about one of Grand Canyon’s early hoteliers at the Fred Harvey Museum. Located inside Bright Angel Lodge just off the main lobby, you’ll not only learn a lot about Fred Harvey himself, but you’ll also get a kick out of seeing how much a meal cost in 1910, the unique designs of the tea service used in the “Harvey House” dining rooms back in the heyday of train travel, the prim and proper uniforms worn by the now-legendary “Harvey Girls.” The small museum also has a fireplace whose hearth was built from stones representing each rock layer in the Grand Canyon itself.

- Shop. Whether you window shop or really shop, it’s a fun and educational experience at the Grand Canyon. Many of Grand Canyon South Rim’s gift shops are located inside historic buildings. The Hopi House , a 101-year-old replica of a Hopi pueblo designed by premier female architect Mary Jane Colter , contains one of the park’s finest collections of jewelry, pottery, basketry and rugs hand-made by members of Arizona’s many Native tribes. Hopi House also offers lower priced mass-produced product lines.

Next door, Verkamp's (the only independent concessionaire still operating within the park) is another fine curio shop whose atmosphere is reminiscent of an old West trading post. They also offer a mix of mass-produced and hand-made mementos. The showpiece in their main lobby is a huge painting of the Grand Canyon by turn-of-the-century artist Louis Aiken. Verkamp's celebrated their centennial in 2006, so be sure to pick up commemorative souvenirs when you visit. Across the way from Hopi House and Verkamp's, the El Tovar Hotel Lobby is not only a nice cozy place to hang out and sip hot coffee, the display case in the center of the room shows the "cream of the crop" of hand-made Native American jewelry. Many pieces are prizewinners at the Inter-tribal Indian Ceremonial, an annual gathering of Native artists in Gallup, New Mexico.

- Visit the Canyon View Information Plaza. Located across from Mather Point, Canyon View is now the park's official visitor facility. Here you will find informative displays and a large bookstore. Because this facility was designed as the terminus for a mass transit system that is not yet operating, you cannot drive to it. Park your car and ride the free shuttle or walk the short trail from Mather Point.

- Take part in a ranger-led program. Though most of these are outdoor programs, there are many that take place indoors at locations such as the Shrine of the Ages, Kolb Studio, Canyon View Information Plaza, etc. Check your copy of the Grand Canyon Guide (a newspaper that you'll receive upon entering the park), or visit www.nps.gov/grca.

All these activities are things you can do within Grand Canyon Village, the main visitor service area at Grand Canyon South Rim. If road conditions permit, take a drive along the 26-mile East Rim Drive of the Grand Canyon and do the following:

- Visit the Tusayan Ruins and Museum - located three miles west of Desert View and 22 miles east of Grand Canyon Village on Desert View Drive. A visit to Tusayan Museum will provide a glimpse of Pueblo Indian life at Grand Canyon some 800 years ago, admission is free. A self-guiding trail leads through the adjacent 800-year-old ruin. Ranger-led tours of the Tusayan Ruins are offered daily. Educational materials about the park and region are sold in the non-profit bookstore

- Visit the Desert View Watchtower and Trading Post: Another masterpiece from architect Mary Jane Colter, the 70-foot watchtower opened in 1932. The structure is reminiscent of ancestral Puebloan (aka 'Hisatsinom' or 'Anasazi') towers found near Mesa Verde National Park in Colorado. Those willing to climb to the top are rewarded with spectacular views of the Grand Canyon and the Colorado River on a clear day. On a cloudy day, the tower's interior also offers a glimpse of Indian culture in the form of ceremonial paintings by Hopi artist Fred Kabotie.

Just South of Grand Canyon Village, the community of Tusayan also offers a variety of activities that can help save the day (not to mention your vacation!) in bad weather:

- Let's Bowl! Bring the family down to the Best Western Grand Canyon Squire Inn's on-site play center, featuring a 6-lane bowling alley, video games, pool tables (at the Sports Lounge across the hall). Not staying at the Squire? No problem - this facility is open to all area visitors.
- Some mamas did let their babies grow up to be cowboys, and cowboys are celebrated in several places in Tusayan. The Best Western Grand Canyon Squire Inn has a small cowboy museum located in the main lobby near the gift shop. You can see actual branding tools used on livestock in this area. Across the street at the Grand Hotel, fine examples of Western art can be found throughout the lobby. This hotel also has a wonderful Christmas craft show in December. The Grand Hotel pays "architectural homage" to the El Tovar.
- Get pampered in "grand" style. Get a haircut, a facial, maybe even a "mani and a pedi." Yes, you can do that sort of thing at the Grand Canyon. The Best Western Grand Canyon Squire Inn has a salon and spa just down the hall from the family play center. Prior appointment required, make yours by calling (928) 638-2681.
- See the IMAX Movie "Grand Canyon: The Hidden Secrets." White-water rafting, helicopters yanking and banking through the Little Colorado River Gorge, stunning photography.... it's only 40 minutes long, but you'll feel as though you've been down in the depths of the canyon when you walk out of the National Geographic IMAX Theatre. The film is shown every hour on the half hour from 10.30 AM to 6.30 PM in shoulder season, 8.30 am to 8.30 pm in peak.

Travel Tip 31 – What is "Grand Canyon West?"

Grand Canyon West (not to be confused with "the West Rim Drive," which is on the South Rim) is another developed area of the Grand Canyon located on the Hualapai Indian Reservation just North of Peach Springs, Arizona. If you have limited time for a Grand Canyon trip, and you're going to be passing through Las Vegas, Phoenix, Page or Sedona, a trip to Grand Canyon West may be just what you're looking for. Grand Canyon West offers opportunities like helicopter trips to the bottom of the canyon, where you can take a float trip, even have a champagne picnic, or not. If you're content to enjoy the view from the rim, GrandCanyon.com has tours for you, too. Take a look at your Grand Canyon Top Tours Brochure for suggestions of tours to Grand Canyon West. Grand Canyon West also has an Indian Village, cowboy town and a brand-new amphitheatre where you can watch Native American cultural performances by tribe members in full ceremonial regalia.

Remember that Grand Canyon West is lower in altitude than the North or South Rims, which means that it's VERY hot in the summertime. Also, one of the main access roads to Grand Canyon West is unpaved but heavily traveled by buses and other commercial vehicles.

Most rental car companies strongly discourage you from taking their vehicles to this area and you could be liable for any damage sustained by doing so. A “park and ride” shuttle bus is offered from the Grand Canyon West Welcome Center in Meadview for a nominal fee.

Grand Canyon West is an Indian Tribal Park, which means your America the Beautiful Federal Access Pass or Grand Canyon Park Entrance Pass would not grant you access to this area. An entrance fee is still required, unless you are going there as part of a Grand Canyon tour, in which case your entry fee is included.

Travel Tip 32 – What is the “Grand Canyon Skywalk?”

The Grand Canyon Skywalk is an amazing attraction slated at press time (January 2007) to open in mid-2007 at Grand Canyon West. This glass-bottomed horseshoe-shaped walkway will jut seventy feet out from the lip of the canyon, which means that you’ll feel like you’re floating high in the air above the Colorado River! A café and gift shop are under construction. Even if the Skywalk doesn’t open on schedule (it has been delayed several times), Grand Canyon West still warrants consideration as an expeditious and exciting alternative to the South Rim or North Rim, especially if you’re in Las Vegas, Phoenix, or Sedona, your time is at a premium, but you know you’ve come too far not to see the canyon.

Travel Tip 33 – Last Word/First Word

SAFETY FIRST – ALWAYS! The last thing we want to hear about is your long-awaited vacation being ruined by an accident or other mishap. Here are a few last tips culled from years of experience seeing all kinds of people get into all kinds of trouble on their Grand Canyon vacations.

1. Practice defensive driving. You’re sharing the roadways with thousands of other people who are just as unfamiliar with the area as you are, many of whom are used to driving on the left hand side of the road, or are operating a recreational vehicle for the first time. Use your headlights, even during the daytime. Don’t follow the car in front of you too closely. Avoid stopping suddenly in the middle of the road. If you see an animal, pretty view, or something you want to photograph, pull off the side of the road to where it’s safe, then take your picture. If you find yourself lost, again, pull off to the side of the road out of the way of traffic, then look at your map.

2. The altitude can affect your attitude. Grand Canyon’s South Rim is 6,000’ above sea level; the North Rim is at 7,000.’ Acclimation takes about two weeks for a person in good health. Individuals with heart or lung problems should exercise care when visiting the Grand Canyon.

If your physician advises you not to go to such high altitudes, Grand Canyon West is only 4,000' high (but very hot in the summertime). Even if you're healthy, don't overdo it. If you need to take a break, TAKE A BREAK!

3. Watch children and pets at all times. Many canyon view points do not have guardrails, so approach the rim slowly, and keep your pets leashed always. NEVER leave a pet or a child unattended in a parked car, even with the windows cracked open. Temperatures inside parked vehicles can reach in excess of 150°F with alarming speed!

4. This is the desert (but then again, it's not!). Don't let pleasant temperatures on the canyon rim or even a little rain fool you. Conditions here are probably much drier than you're used to. Take care not to become dehydrated, especially when exerting yourself (even slightly). Carry water and drink it. Protect yourself from the sun. Wear a hat, sunglasses and sunscreen. Carry lip balm and moisturize often. Insider tip: You'll find that your hair dries out a lot easier than at home, and hotels typically provide shampoo, but not conditioner. Bring your own. Contact lens wearers also report that the dry climate makes their lenses uncomfortable. Bring a spare pair of glasses.

Extreme weather dangers: Prolonged dry weather and windy conditions make the area prone to dust storms. Use caution when driving through flat, sandy terrain or unplanted agricultural fields. If you are caught in a dust storm while driving, pull off the highway a safe distance until the disturbance passes. Flash floods can happen even when you can't see a cloud in the sky! Check weather before venturing into slot canyons or riverbeds. NEVER try to drive across a flooded roadway. Lightning storms can also be treacherous. Avoid standing on the canyon rim or any high, exposed area during a thunderstorm. If you feel your hair stand on end, or smell sulphur, run for cover! Blizzards are particularly dangerous on the highways. Avoid driving during severe snowstorms if at all possible. Road closures may result. For more information, visit the Arizona Department of Public Safety's website at www.azdps.gov or the Arizona Department of Transportation at www.az511.com

5. Watch out for wildlife and don't feed them. Deer and elk are notoriously nocturnal and can dart out in front of you before you have time to react. Obey the speed limit and be alert when driving after dark. During the daytime, it's not unusual to see deer, elk, squirrels and birds come right up to people and beg for food. These creatures may look perfectly tame, but they're not. Squirrels, chipmunks and other rodents also have fleas, which harbor infectious diseases. Enjoy the wildlife from a distance.

Also, hunting is prohibited, as is throwing objects at animals or birds.

6. When it gets dark, it gets really, really dark. Artificial lighting is kept to a minimum in the National Parks, and many of the hotel rooms inside the park are situated in the woods, too, so bring a flashlight or headlamp along on your sunset walk. Blindly stumbling around in unfamiliar territory is not only unnerving, but unsafe.

7. BE CAREFUL WITH FIRE! 2006 was a particularly bad season for forest fires as demonstrated by large-scale blazes in Sedona, Lake Powell and at the North Rim. Fire danger could carry over into Summer 2007 without adequate precipitation, which may mean foregoing campfires and abstaining from smoking. Obey any and all fire restrictions in the parks you visit! Make sure that your campfire is completely out by dousing it, stirring it and dousing it again. If you smoke, grind your cigarette out in the dirt (but never on a stump or log), and NEVER toss a lit cigarette out your car window.

8. For Lake Powell Visitors: No cliff diving, no teak surfing and no kite tubing! Be aware of the dangers of carbon monoxide. Children must wear a US Coast Guard approved life vest around the water at all times. For more information on safety at Lake Powell, visit www.nps.gov/glca or www.carbon-monoxide-poisoning.com Want more information on Lake Powell?
